Company Secretary

Companies House Compliance

UK private companies limited by shares are not required to have a company secretary. However, the director(s) are legally responsible for ensuring that the duties are fulfilled and failure to do so is a personal legal liability.

Elemental acts on behalf of law firms, international clients and clients that lack dedicated company secretarial resources internally to offer a fixed fee solution.

(Recommended) I would like Elemental to ensure my compliance requirements are met

Or, there are alternative arrangements to ensure the directors' responsibilities are met

Annual Compliance Service

For an annual fixed fee, we will ensure:

- The minimum regulatory requirements are met: preparing and filing the Confirmation Statement, maintaining the statutory registers in electronic form, filing changes in the statutory registers and preparation of relevant AGM documents (if required)
- The directors always have access to a point of contact for company secretarial queries.

We maintain client records using Dilligent, the UK market leader. As company secretarial specialists we can offer this service to our clients at a fraction of the cost of purchasing an individual license.

Named Company Secretary

Elemental can also appear on the Companies House register as a named company secretary and sign certain documents on your behalf for your convenience.

People with Significant Control

All UK companies and LLPs are required to maintain a register of people with significant control (PSC).

A person with significant control over the company is defined as an individual who (either alone or as one of a number of joint holders of the share or rights in question) meets one or more of the following conditions:

- an individual who holds, directly or indirectly, more than 25% of the shares in the company;
- an individual who holds, directly or indirectly, more than 25% of the voting rights in the company;
- an individual who holds the right, directly or indirectly, to appoint or remove a majority of the board of directors of the company;
- an individual who has the right to exercise, or actually exercises, significant influence or control over the company; and
- a trust or firm (without legal personality) that meets any of the above conditions and an individual who has the right to exercise, or actually exercises, significant influence or control over the activities of that trust or firm.

Further statutory and non-statutory guidance exists as to the meaning of these tests. Please get in touch if you would like more information.

If a UK company (or a company listed on a relevant market) meets any of these conditions and is the first in the ownership chain, then they will be a Registrable Relevant Legal Entity (RRLE) and their details will need to be provided.

Please confirm whether the company will have any PSCs or RRLE's and, if so, please provide their details.

There is no PSC in relation to the company

There are individual PSCs as further set out below

There are RRLEs

Or, I would like further advice from Elemental

Specific information, referred to as “required particulars” in the People with Significant Control (“PSC”) legislation, must be shown in a PSC register for each individual who is a PSC, as well as for any legal entity (such as a company or a limited liability partnership (LLP)) that is a ‘registrable legal entity’ in relation to your company and certain prescribed bodies.

Please note that in exceptional circumstances it is possible to suppress information relating to PSCs, or prevent a PSC’s residential address from being shared with credit reference agencies. Here, exceptional circumstances mean a serious risk of violence or intimidation. If you think this may apply, please get in touch with us.

If any of the PSCs are also directors, please simply insert their names and their ownership interest as we already hold their required information.
